ETERNITY REVIEW: EARTHQUAKER VIDEO

Get this video, put it in your machine and take cover! If your a lover of video raves this is a must for you. The video starts as most others do with everyone entering the rave, then quickly slams into the action showing New Atlantic live on stage. The first thing I noticed about the footage was the fact that the noise from the crowd hadn't been cut out so you could hear the response as the live acts were on.

The camera shots really showed the lights off perfectly and the camera men caught all the atmosphere down to a fine T.

The Dream Frequency footage was excellent especially the shots over the crowds heads.

The videos end is a bit confusing, showing people leaving then it skips back into the event as its happening. Theres some excellent footage both inside and out however, the video could have been a bit longer. This video has that 'I wanna go raving' effect, when you've seen it you just want to go out for a nights raving! The perfect thing to watch before or after a night out!

CHEWING GUM REPORT FOLLOW UP

Last month you will remember we did a report about an event where your chewing gum was taken from you at the security check point so you had to buy some more when you got in - at ridiculous prices.

We have just been to the Paradise Club in London and a Rezerrection event in Scotland, both reviews are in this magazine, anyway both took our chewing gum on entry. The ticket for Rezerrection tells you that chewing gum is not allowed so we thought fair enough, at least your not buying it twice. The thing was, neither event sold chewing gum inside so we're interested to know why it was not allowed.

Apparently it is because people are spitting gum on the floor, which is causing a right mess and not very nice if someone stands in it when you are trying to dance and even worse for the poor sod that has to try and clean it up the day after. If you go in a club with a piece of gum in your mouth you will try and make it last all night if you haven't any in your pocket, therefore it doesn't end up on the floor - problem solved. The Paradise Club told us about a girl that had recently had gum stuck in her hair which led to a large handful of hair being cut out and also the club complained about the amount of gum getting stuck on the floors. Whilst we were at a recent event someone in our posse sat in some gum and ruined a pair of black jeans so she is glad to hear about the no gum policy.

This is obviously a totally different situation to the outside event we reported last month where gum was on sale inside, the moral of this story is if you are asked to give your gum don't get mad straight away because there could be a reason why, but if they are taking the piss and you find gum on sale inside let us know and we will print their names. The organiser has been approached from last months story and he assures us he has absolutely nothing to do with the sale of chewing gum inside so it would be of no advantage to him, he also noticed the amount of packets of gum on the floor and has promised to keep an eye on the next event to find out why it is happening, one person did say it could be because the security think people may have hidden drugs in the packet, that doesn't justify throwing away a full, unopened packet.

AKKI - THE ARCHBISHOP OF TECHNO

You may or may not have heard of Akki but if you haven't you soon will, he has played live at Helter Skelter in Telford and at Truth in Plymouth, he has over 2 hours of live material and the tape we received shows that this young man knows what he is doing. He is 17 years old and has mastered the keyboards, drums and percussion, the list of instruments he owns is as long as his arm (well nearly).

He has been involved with the music industry since he left school by regularly organising small gigs and shows. He sent a tape of his work to the Gloucestershire College of Art and Technology, they immediately offered him a place on their Media and Technology course. Here he has mastered the art of sound engineering, sound production, the theory of sound television engineering and its production and is now currently completing his final year.

Akki has recently been voted by the industry magazines 'Music Technology' and 'Home and Studio Recording' as the best up-and-coming techno artist in the country and appeared live for them last November at Wembley Conference Centre as part of the British Music Fair. All that is left for us to say is good luck to what looks like a promising future.

Ecstasy / MDMA / Es

In the first edition of Eternity you will recall that we did articles on Ecstasy V's Ketamine and Tips for E Heads, trying to give people sensible advice on how to take the drug safely if they are going to use it, we were not promoting or condoning the use of drugs just helping to hopefully save someone's life and we have actually received letters from people who have stopped using Ecstasy because of the worry about buying Ketamine thinking it is Ecstasy

This month we try to give you a better explanation of the drug Ecstasy and hopefully answer any questions you have in the back of your mind about the tablets you buy on the streets with names such as 'White Doves, Denis the Menace, New Yorkers, Biscuits (White, Brown or Disco)' and the one this week we discovered called 'Double White Callis' (I've heard it all now). Ecstasy is a Class A drug and is in the same bracket as Heroin and Cocaine. If you are caught with it. The biggest problem with the drug is 'are you actually buying E?' The tablets are cut with all sorts of other substances and you will never know what has been added e.g. LSD, Ketamine, Whizz, Brick Dust, Glass (Cuddly Toy - Didn't they do well)- you name it - it could be in there.

Real Ecstasy starts to effect people anywhere between 20 and 60 minutes after taking it, although it does depend on the dose, your frame of mind, how much you've eaten and much, much more. The user gets a tingling all over the body, the mouth goes dry and sometimes the person's jaw, arms and legs go stiff - no not that, that usually shrinks (making King Dong look like Wee Willie Winkie) especially if the E is full of Whizz! The heart beats faster, the pupils get larger, and I mean plates, some people feel a bit sick. The drug usually lasts around 4 hours in which time, music, colours and emotions become more intense and the user gets a great feeling of well being. The after effects are depression, tiredness and moods. Most of the deaths are due to respiratory problems, blood clotting, and heat exhaustion. You should always remember to stop and take breaks for drinks etc. Don't over do it because you might think your body can cope but it more than likely cannot.

We have teamed up with a panel of experts on the subject of drug abuse and over the next few months we are going to look in more depth what the drug is actually doing to your body and how it actually works, why do you get a rush, why do colours, sounds etc. seem different, we will explain it all and also start a problem page so you can write into our panel for advice on anything you are not sure about. The advice is coming from experts that are in the top bracket of their field and is exclusive to Eternity, we are making sure you are as safe as you possibly can be.

Our closing comment is: If you haven't tried anything, DON'T, there are thousands of people who do go out and enjoy themselves without taking illegal substances. Next month we give you a full report on a new type of drink that gives you all the energy you need and is actually good for you; we are testing it at present, SMART DRINK - if you are going to take drugs at least listen to what we are telling you, it makes sense to be safe, SMART DRINK is excellent for replacing lost vitamins, energy and getting you back UP on your feet (so they say). We give our honest review next issue, if its shit we will tell you after all its no skin off our nose. It is going to be available in a few raves over the next month as well so why not write in and let us know what you think. It has been tested over the past few months by one of the most respected organisers in the business and he gives it his full backing which is why we showed such an interest.

AN INSIGHT TO PANDEMONIUM

The 28th August 1992 saw the biggest set back ever hit Pandemonium, the council were determined to stop the event they had planned and eventually succeeded. The event was due to take place at Forton Airfield in Shrewsbury, all the tents were to be on tarmac and 6,000 tickets were sold. The council laid down the usual 'over the top' rules and regulations and Pandemonium complied with all 43 of them.

At the original meeting the council demanded 12ft fencing, they knew that Pandemonium would not be able to provide this, after great discussion and argument it was agreed that the normal 6ft fence was allowed. Anyway the minutes from the meeting were deliberately delayed from being sent to Pandemonium and had been changed to say the 12ft fence was still required, at the next meeting the fence was brought up again and sure enough still saying they wanted a 12ft fence and thinking Pandemonium would not have time to sort it, Pandemonium went and strapped two 6ft fences on top of each other as there was no where that could supply a 12ft fence (and the council knew this.)

The next thing is they are served an injunction saying the fence was not going to be ready in time, they had no proof and as far as Pandemonium were concerned the fence was going to be ready. The media got hold of the story and published that the event was cancelled, tickets were returned in a panic and although the event could have still gone ahead by the time the organisers had seen a solicitor it was too late, the council had won by some clever underhand tricks.

Mark Chamberlain of Pandemonium has been in the business since he was 16 years old and both his partners, Paul Dawkes and Paul Archer were as gob smacked as he was over the decision. Mark says he's the most experienced production manager in the business and has promoted not only some of the best rave events but in his long career he has promoted events for top groups such as Madness, back in 1978 he was putting on Rallies in the Northern Soul scene, pretty obvious after speaking to him and knowing the excellent events he has put on that he is certainly NOT a 'fly by night' in it for the money.

Pandemonium say they are going to be the leading Rave organiser in 1993, they say they are the peoples champion and any one who went to their last event at the Hummingbird Centre would have to agree, see our review in Rave Report Feedback for what we thought about the event. After their major set back they have fought there way back, good look to the future and keep putting on events like this and we will be behind you all the way!

PROMOTERS BAGGING AND SLAGGING

There are plenty of Ravers out there, enough for all the organisers to be able to arrange events and have a good attendance as long as they are putting on a good event. If you go to a good event you will go back and tell other people about it so they go and try it out, alot of people will go to an event on the hear say of someone else or after reading articles in magazines such as ours, this is why we must be honest to keep your faith in us.

Unfortunately there are some organisers that are obviously jealous of the ones putting on good events and they are the twats that start dirty tricks campaigns and it is these twats that are damaging the scene, it has to stop, they are making the Raver lose faith in the scene and are damaging their own business as well as the business of the person they are trying to shit on.

Just before a large event takes place we recieve hundreds of calls asking if the event has been cancelled, people that have heard a rumour! The rumour will have been started by another organiser and stupidly passed on - Visions last event being a prime example of a target that caused our phone lines to be jammed, we went to the event and believe me it was far from being cancelled so if you didn't buy a ticket because you thought it was cancelled you should have given us a ring, everyone we spoke to at the event had a great time. The production was good, attractions were good and they were charging sensible prices for food and drink - all in all a good night and we were impressed. The only bad point really about the night was the excessive police presence, not the fault of the organisers, the police are never going to leave us alone wherever we go so you can only be careful and keep going - don't let the bastards think they have won because THEY NEVER WILL.

This is exactly the point of this article, there are enough fuckers out there trying to ruin the scene, police, councillors, dodgy dealers, the list is endless! The organisers need to pull together to keep the scene going and get peoples faith back, if the faith finishes, they finish. Another example of an underhand trick is the person who has obviously got it in for Diztruxshon at Howden, who incidentally put on an excellent night, packed every event and full of people that enjoy a good atmosphere. The event is on every other week and our MC, MC Natz, tells us it is one of his favourite events. All that doesn't really make sense when you listen to the local radio station in the area of where most people who go are drawn from, they are told over the air that Diztruxshon is a load of shit and poorly attended. All of this has been started by another organiser trying to take the business off Diztruxshon in a bid to increase its own business. PACK IT IN! If they are putting on a good event they will take people by word of mouth - if Diztruxshon was a load of crap then fair enough but what you get for the money can only be described as value for money.

Rave Report-Feedback

Rezerection

ROYAL HIGHLAND CENTRE,
EDINBURGH - 13TH FEBRUARY

The myth, Scotland rave scene is very unfriendly, the people look down on ravers from England and they haven't got a clue how to rave.

The reality, the Scotland Rave scene kicks like a mule, the people make you feel like a family member and they've got the rave scene down to a T and believe me Scotland can rave in fine style.

When you finally reach your destination after several hours and several hundred miles of driving the last thing you want is the night to be a total let down, this night turned out to be the absolute opposite. There were no problems getting in, I was tapped down but for a change I didn't have to turn out my pockets, however I had to get rid of my chewing gum but this was stated on the ticket. The rave was inside an exhibition centre and when you got inside you realised how big it really was.

We took a walk round, the main arena was curtained off, there was a large chill out area serving hot and cold drinks, a large merchandising stall, a bouncy castle, waltzers and some other 'mash yer head' rides - and a first aid room.

We then turned our attention to the lights and stage, it was obvious that Rezerection really had put a lot of thought into this as both were totally spot on. By this time the rave's atmosphere was really rising and thought it was time to put the old scottish rave myth to test, and like I said the myth is bullshit. The people were great, really friendly and were all adding electric to the atmosphere and really showing how much they enjoyed raving.

The music was very techno like at first but changed as the DJ's swapped over. Whilst the DJ's were on, the stage was never empty, jugglers, dancers and fire breathing jugglers - WOW! But no crowd on the stage and we have to agree it was better for that, I was beginning to think the night couldn't get any better when it did. The 2nd live PA was announced, me and Paul 'Rushed' to the front and 'Rushed' even quicker when on came N Joi. we just stood and watched them, Gobsmacked. (In my opinion it is an insult to dance when N Joi are playing, they're just so amazing all you can do is watch them). The music they played was brilliant but the two dancers work can't be described, it is an experience in itself to see and feel what they are doing. Ratpack followed them on stage, I know Ratpack are very highly rated but in my eyes no live PA can follow on from N Joi and produce the same atmosphere - no disrespect to Ratpack.

There were two male & female toilets, which were alternatively closed and cleaned which I think was really good. There were trained first aid staff on the premises to make sure any casualties could be dealt with quickly and properly. The security, well I fell in love with them! They were ALL great and just as friendly as the ravers, they all had time to stand and make sure you were having a great time, this isn't exactly a plug but Rock Steady Security really is Raver Friendly and knows how a rave should be secured. Now as you might have gathered our night was absolutely spot on, bar one thing, the state of the floor. When you got outside into the daylight your footwear looked like you'd been dancing on a open field covered in mud. I dare say many a good pair of trainers were ruined including mine and Pauls. Other than that I can safely say that this was the best night I've ever had and well worth 200 miles and just didn't want to leave at the end. Rezerection events aren't for the raver that goes out to get out of their head, dance and go home, they're for the raver that wants to go out, have a great time, meet the best people and truly be amazed by a rave organisation that puts on a show not just DJ's and lights.

DJ Spin (Eternity Crew)

Scotland is massive, believe me they can rave and know the score. Other rave organisations take note, Rezerection really know how to hold an event and make sure you leave with nothing but memories of a fucking brilliant night. Rezerection, try and beat em!

P.S. Full respect to the Ribena Crew, great raving with you lads, until next time, GYE!

DJ RATTY

Some of the DJ's have been on the rave scene for quite some time, do you welcome young fresh names on the scene? Yeh, definitely, its about time a few new names came through. Donavani, Randall, Pilgrim, Bukem all came through last year.

How about favourite club? Quest in Wolverhampton, and Fibre Optics first event in Learnington Spa, was my first event as well, thats where I met my manager Danny, heres a flyer from it.

(THANKS TO DJ SPIN AND TIM FURNISH OF PORTSMOUTH WHO CONTRIBUTED TO THE QUESTIONS FOR THE INTERVIEW).

MC Profile

MC MOONCAT

What is your real name? Dale William Robbie
What is your age? 27yrs
How long have you been a MC? Since April 1992
Who is your favourite DJ of all time? Slip Matt
Have you been on with him? Yeh
Who do you like to work with most? There's a few, I like to work with Slip Matt, DJ E, Bad Boy T, Mongoose, Easy D, MC Rush, Lady P, Senator & Clarkee.
What was your first main event? The Drill Hall, Insomnia. That was the biggest as well.
What clubs are you resident at? I'm a resident at Insomnia, Pleasure Dome at Skegness and Red Zone in Derby.
What music do you enjoy most? Well I'm not too keen on Techno. I like hardcore & Jungle, I think hardcore will be around for a bit yet, just become a mixture of more techno and hardcore.
How do you feel the club scene is going? It's not that people are fed up but some are changing to mellow music such as Garage and Progressive House. The new people coming in will keep it going - the next generation.
What will you do if hardcore dies? My own preference is Jungle and hardcore, I do MC to other music, I just hope hardcore stays around, it will
What is the best club you do? Pleasure Dome for the atmosphere and Insomnia because it's my home town, all my friends and that, big shout to John, Jem and Hilly. They've all been good to me and looked after me.

Who is your favourite organiser? Amnesia House

Why? I went to the wedding, everything you could ever ask for.

Is there anything else you would like to say? A big thank you to everyone who has helped me over the past few months, especially my friends and the Lincoln posse.

We are managing MC Mooncat so if you want to book him give us a ring - you will not be disappointed, only impressed! Guaranteed.

MC MAJKA

What is your real name? Imran Santini.
What is your age? Immaterial.
How long have you been a MC? 1 1/2 Years
What was your first event? Euro Rave Galactica Paris. I also MC at Ripon racecourse but was stopped by police because they said the noise overcarried the music, I was on with Joey Beltram and Trevor Fung.
Who is your favourite DJ of all time? I've got 3, Pilgrim, Stu Allen and Grooverider, I always get asked by Grooverider because he doesn't like MC's that go on, I just come in when required.
What is the biggest event you have MC'd at? Vision at Winchester, 38,000 people and Fantazia at Donington 29,000 people.
How many clubs do you play in one weekend? Well it just depends but I could do Manchester, London and Birmingham with no problem. I am a student in the week so don't usually do week events as I've no time, I'm studying a degree in physiotherapy at Birmingham University.
How do you feel the club scene is going at present? Really commercial, taking the piss, 'We are Raving' changed from 'We are Sailing', young kids with dummies, hats and white gloves.
How do you see the future of rave? This year will be massive I think it will be the last year really then it will die, sad but it will. Everyone's taking the piss, it's gone too far and can't be salvaged.
What is the best club you have MC'd at? Quest in Wolverhampton and Zest in Mansfield.
What is the best rave event? Elavation, The Pay Back at the Historia, 6000 people on the 18th Dec, they turned away 3000 people, it was an unbelievable show.
What do you think about a lot of promoters changing to Techno?
It's too late for Techno, break beat is the music of today and needs to stay.
Who is your favourite promoter? Rezerection (wicked), Galactica, Pandamonium and Quest.
What are your plans for the future? In February I'm going to Club Lime Light in New York U.S. of A. in Manhattan to MC for 3 days.
How did you arrange that? When I was seen in another club and asked by Impact Talent in London to go.

What else have you got planned? Well break beat is only just arrived in the US, clubs that get 2-3 thousand are going into stadiums and putting on events for 25,000 people. Perhaps a future there. I'm also going to Australia in March or April with Shaun Nailon Promoters, raves have been going since 1990 and events for 25,000 people are taking place, it's kicking out there as well. Basically I'm trying to expand, Buzz FM, a local radio station has given me a Sunday show in late February. I'm meeting MTV in March to do something with them dance orientated in the UK or maybe Asia.

Who are you managed by? Erol at Kinetic, Telford, Julian at BPM Stoke and Dynamics at Milton Keynes.

Is there anything else you would like to say? Well yes, can I just pay respects to all the Birmingham Ravers, all the promoters that have helped me, my friends, my mum and dad and everyone who comes and shakes my hand giving me support - Nice One.
See Ya 94!

Rave Report-Feedback

PARADISE CLUB

AWOL - LONDON

We had been told to expect a long queue when we go to this club but we thought it wouldn't be too bad by the time we got there, it was half past eleven, how wrong we were! The queue was massive, right to the end of the street and round the corner, loads of eager faces waiting to get in and start stomping.

As you entered the club you could tell the security were on top of the situation and the normal search was carried out firmly but politely. If you had chewing gum on you it was taken, not as a rip off but because they are sick of it getting stuck on the floors and seats and a few people have complained when they have sat on it or had to put it in their hair as one girl did the other week - fair enough really.

As you go through you enter the coffee / chill out lounge which can offer a selection of hot or cold drinks all at reasonable prices - nice and cool for anyone needing a sit down and well appreciated later on in the night. Pleased to see a first aid man available and although he was a bit of a knob he is an essential part of the club (if you want a three hour lecture on taking drugs have a chat to him).

When you walked through the next set of doors you entered the Mellow Room (Mellow Submarine) which had some good backdrops and good ambient sounds blasting out. A bar was also in this room and remained licensed until the early hours of the morning.

When you walked through the next set of doors it was like entering another world, you got hit in the face by a totally different atmosphere - horns, whistles, fucking loud music and what seemed to be an excellent atmosphere. We walked around for a while checking the joint out and then started to move with the beat, the music was slightly different to the normal hardcore we are used to and was more underground, a bit head fuck to be honest as one minute your going fast the next minute your going slow. My companion for the night was at his first ever rave and probably wasn't the place to have brought him - saying that he assures me he had an absolutely brilliant night and would go again.

Mickey Finn is resident here and when he came on the crowd went up, they absolutely love him and I suppose a lot of people go to the Paradise Club just to see him as he is on every week, fair play, good music, fucking brilliant music was pumped out the whole time he was on. The other DJ's on the night kept up with the standard and the MC was good as well, MC GO. There is actually a third floor to the building but it was empty when we poked our heads around the door, from what we were told that floor wouldn't have been our scene anyway, if you know what I mean, well it is London.

There was a mixture of people in the club and everyone we spoke to had a great time and was very friendly. We were told this club was kicking and it really was, I will definitely be back and would recommend to anyone to go along and try it out. The only criticism I would have would be it does get a bit packed leaving little room to dance, but as the night went on the dance floor thinned out as people started to tire.

The club doesn't finish until 11 am Sunday or later so people come after other events at about 6 or 7 in the morning, we left at around 8.30 as we had a long drive ahead of us and couldn't believe it when we saw a queue waiting to get in. Just proves how popular this club really is and if now we have been we can see why.

Whatever you do be careful where you park because we found our car in the middle of a street market that had been put up around us, apparently the tow truck was on the way, Christ we were lucky! Anyway get yourself off because you won't regret it!

Paul (Eternity Crew)

We took several photos on the night but unfortunately the only ones worth using were from the Mellow Submarine, the hardcore room was too full of smoke and the photos wouldn't have given the club the credit it deserved. Sorry to the guy who wanted some copies - they were all shit I've lost your number so give us a ring!

Rave Report-Feedback

PANDEMONIUM

THE HUMMINGBIRD CENTRE
29TH JANUARY

After a half hour 'treasure hunt' around Birmingham City Centre and being caught in a one way system we finally found the Hummingbird Centre and parked the car. The All Nighter was originally planned to be at The Institute but disaster struck in the form of an electrical fire less than 24 hours before starting time but it was obvious that word had got about to inform people of the late change of venue when we saw the queue outside.

We were both searched on entry but I had to turn out my pockets, I must look more shady than I thought, all was well and we walked in through the large entrance hall into the main room. Inside the Rave was already well underway, Ratty was on the decks pumping out some serious hardcore.

A walk around discovered a food & drinks bar, merchandise stall selling everything from Rave tapes to Vicks inhalers, crucial Ravers Gear!

There was a cloak room but it did seem to get full early in the night, probably due to the excellent turn out. There was an excellent large chill out room, very cool temperature and matching the music. The dance floor in the main arena was full but not to the extent that you couldn't move, everyone I spoke to said that they were having a great time, someone I spoke to compared it to Shelly's in Stoke (can't be bad).

There were on stage attractions throughout the night, dancers, jugglers and a chinese dragon. One guy came on roller skates, he looked a lot better than I could ever describe on paper, if you were in the crowd he looked like he was floating across the stage - excellent. The lights and graphic lazer were excellent, both me and Paul noticed the way the event had been set out to give that underground feel, reminding us of old illegal raves, you certainly couldn't tell the venue had been changed so late and full marks must go to Pandemonium for that.

Overall I had a really good night, especially when MC Natz turned up (unscheduled) and stormed the stage to prove himself as one of the top Lyrical MC's in the rave scene. The atmosphere could have been a little more friendly but apart from that nothing else could be faulted. The promoters really did do well to organise the new venue with such little time, a lot of organisers would have just cancelled. Pandemonium events are a must for all hardcore madheads out for a bollox of a night, hats, whistles, whatever you want goes - the business!

DJ Spin - (Eternity Crew)

Since writing this review we have visited club Pandemonium in Birmingham at The Institute, fucking mental - I have never heard a sound system so loud, check it out its kicking - coming soon Ibiza foam party!

PLEASURE DOME

SKEGNESS - 30TH JANUARY

Little did we know that a ghost town like Skegness could hide such a nightclub. Held regularly every month this top venue fills to capacity everytime it opens it's doors.

On entry a stringent but polite body search, all of the staff being easy-going which adds to a better night. A mixture of 1200 clubbers pack the floors to dance to Garage in the Bean Bash Room or Techno/Hardcore in the main arena.

On our night Nigel Dawson from Renaissance, Errol, Bogey, JB & Bucko played uncontrollable house/garage. Playing in the main arena Warlock, Fergus and Krazy K pumped up the bass. Chinny played some memorable old classics to the pleasure of the crowd. Respect goes out to Swann-E who made the crowd really move. All this was accompanied by some brilliant MC's namely Mooncat, Easy E and Magika.

The appearance of people varied from those dressed to impress to those dressed to get really sweaty - so whatever your preference you'll fit in. The venue reminded us of an All Nighter - a large main arena with plenty of platforms, an all important stage and backdrops. There were lazars and lights flying everywhere at all angles, a credit to the technicians.

All together a very enjoyable night, get there early and you'll not be disappointed! So who wants to go for a wet weekend in Skegness? ME! ME! ME!

OFF HER HEAD

A message to all happy ravers,
I have had many orders to send in a poem that a few of you will know. A friend and I were on a bit of a hype about how sound the rave scene is and we decided to express our feelings in this way.

"A ONE NIGHT RAVE, THE PLACE TO BE,
EVERYONE'S BUZZIN, IS IT THE 'E'?
FOR THE MONEY YOUR SPENDING,
IT SEEMS NEVER ENDING,
BUT SOONER OR LATER IT STOPS.
PEOPLE LEAVE AND COLLECT FLYERS,
AND THE SERVICES WELCOME THEIR BUYERS.
AS EVERYONE SITS BACK TO REMMONICE,
THE UNCONTROLLABLE ATMOSPHERE,
THE HUGS AND THE KISSES,
FEELING THE RUSH,
THE HITS AND THE MISSES.
BLOTTED OUT OF YOUR MIND,
HAVING A GOOD TIME.
MENTAL BEHAVIOUR,
THE HAPPY RAVER!"

JAZZIE C AND JULIE T. SOUTHAM, WORKS.
PS. "ROSPOC" TO GREENIE, CHRIS & THE CREW! CHEERS

I've been going to Evolution since the begining and it's improving all the time with Dreamscape the best so far.
There were more people from outside Hull at Dreamscape and they showed the plastic ravers a thing or too.
Could you say sorry to the girl who molested me at Dreamscape V. We'd both had an 'E' and were feeling rather horny. We left at 5am, thinking we could easily have a shag and be back for the last hour. We jumped into her car eagerly, ripped our clothes off and... it just wouldn't happen.
I did explain I'd had some whizz. I went back in at 7am to get my coat and was totally gutted.
Sarah, the nurse from Scarborough.
SORRY! yours ANDY!

him the £10 PRIZE as we know how he feels!

World News

EXODUS - ILLEGAL RAVES

On Saturday 30th January ravers from all over gathered in Luton to wait for directions to where the illegal rave by Exodus was to be held. It was not long before the word spread, 114 riot police had raided Long Meadow Farm and arrested the Exodus organisers and confiscated the sound system. This took place at 7am so no rave could take place that evening.

By 11.30 over 4,000 Ravers had assembled to demonstrate outside Luton police station, Ravers were later to be seen dancing on their car roofs on National Television, as a strong act of defiance outside the police station. After 29 successful illegal raves a high court injunction had been placed upon Exodus, but this would not stop them!

Two weeks later on Saturday 13th Feb almost 6,000 ravers travelled into Luton and tried to meet in the usual places. They were confronted by an amazing amount of road blocks, police dogs, cars, land-rovers and mini-buses packed with riot police in full body armour. After driving around Luton for a short amount of time we soon located the Exodus organisers and 'the chase' was soon underway with thousands of ravers in pursuit. The police also joined the chase in unmarked police sierra 4x4's with dash mounted cameras so they could video what was happening.

The police eventually managed to get between the Exodus land-rovers packed with sound equipment and the ravers, they blocked the road off. It was not long before we received more directions, after a while it seemed that no matter where the chase went we hit endless police road blocks, this resulted in thousands of ravers getting out of their cars and locking them, in the middle of the road, so to teach the authorities a lesson. At 2.30am the chase led us to a warehouse in Hertfordshire waiting for the sound system to arrive - it never did. The police had managed to intercept the equipment only 100 yards short of the building where all the ravers were. Outside the Warehouse hundreds of riot police had assembled to control the ravers and scuffles broke out.

Exodus have vowed that the Raves will go on for our Freedom to Dance

(Report by Weasel, Coventry Techno Crew, on site for Eternity)

EURO PRINT

Last month we did an article on paying your debts, ripping people off and warning people about others that can not be trusted. We have to warn people about EURO PRINT, a printers agent, who are blatantly taking the piss it seems, out of rave organisers and anyone connected with the scene. If you are approached by them all we can say is you've been warned.

When we first started they were given a deposit for a job they never actually ended up doing - basically because they couldn't find anyone to complete the job by the deadline, after saying they could. We were given a receipt and everything seemed ok until they wouldn't give us our deposit back, we were sent a bill which was totally made up and suprisingly came to the amount of the deposit, luckily all this happened after we had got our artwork back. Anyway the matter is now in the hands of our solicitor and the courts.

Since this has happened to us we have heard reports from several people in the rave business who have also lost money to them. One company told us how they were asked to print flyers, which they did, the price was agreed and all seemed ok until Euro Print went to collect the job. The money was counted and was short, "O' hang on" he said "the rest's in the car", he went to the car, put the job in the boot and that was the last they saw of them. They drove off without paying the rest.

There are a lot of people who are in the process of catching up with Euro Print and all we can say is be careful - you've been warned - there are other tales about them but I think you should have the general idea by now!

WOULD YOU BELIEVE IT?

Mother of Suzanne Mizzi has landed in jail accused of drug dealing. She was arrested after a raid that found 500 Ecstasy tablets in her sisters home in Dublin. She appeared in court charged with possessing and intending to supply more than 14,000 worth of Ecstasy. Maureen Mizzi (45 yrs) and her sister Kathleen (41 yrs) are said to have been under surveillance for some time. Bail was refused but legal aid was granted after the court heard that she and her husband are both unemployed. Maureen made headlines once before when it was revealed she worked as a prostitute's maid in Soho, with such a super star for a daughter (she's got a lovely bunch of coconuts) perhaps she should take a lower profile in life.

WHERE WILL IT END?

A junkie in the States was high on crack when he sold a newborn baby for $10.00. The nutcase drove to a shopping centre car park and yelled "Give me drugs and I'll give you this girl" she was only 3 hours old. A Clerk passing gave him the cash and took the baby to a church in Tustin, California, it was later discovered that the baby was in fact a boy - since finding out the clerk wants a refund (only joking). The police are now hunting the man and are not sure if he is the father, that's if he is a man. The moral of this story is don't take crack, it obviously fucks you up and don't have a baby in America.
